Q4

To reach our collective potential, we must work together to build up Ottawa. That requires a council in which each member commits to city wide leadership. What is your intended approach to collaboration with council, city staff and economic partners?

I believe my approach is to realistically look at the problem and to resolve it. By working together for the greater good of the community. All entities should understand that this is the best approach to take.

What key characteristics and skills do you possess that make you a great leader and ambassador for the city of Ottawa, and the national capital region?

My approach to leadership is different from the approach that is perceived now. Leadership as it stands now is actually not conducive to achieving the goals that it wants to achieve. The leader is set apart and held above the people. When this occurs the tendency for detachment from the group results. After time what ends up happening is that the leader fails to fully understand what the group is really thinking. They start to rely more and more on their experts to understand what the group is thinking. Leadership requires the ability to fully engage with all aspects of the group and make them feel that they are important and that they are contributing. I feel that I have that skill.

What are your top three priorities for Ottawa's future?

World Class efficient Mass Transit for all

A world class city of 1 million where it is safe to walk anywhere at night.

A world class city which is the mecca for education and culture.
