Q4

To reach our collective potential, we must work together to build up Ottawa. That requires a council in which each member commits to city wide leadership. What is your intended approach to collaboration with council, city staff and economic partners?

I believe we all need to work together in order to achieve what is in the best interest of the city at large. During the last council there was too much of the us versus them mentality. I am hopeful with many new faces being elected this fall that split in council will not be carried forward. I will keep an open mind and listen to all sides before making a decision. I will rely on the expertise of city staff and the economic partners to guide me in my decision making.

Q5

What key characteristics and skills do you possess that make you a great leader and ambassador for the city of Ottawa, and the national capital region?

I am a consensus builder. As the president of the Manordale-Woodvale Community Association (MWCA) for the last nine years, I have worked the residents, the city and many stakeholders on projects in my community. I take the time to listen to all sides to ensure everyone's concerns are heard. I then work will all parties to ensure that the plan going forward addresses everyone's need. During Covid, the community association helped to promote the many small businesses in the community to help them survive. The MWCA has a reputation of working and standing with local businesses in the community.

Q6

What are your top three priorities for Ottawa's future?

My top three priorities are:

- 1) Affordable Housing
  - 2) Intensification
  - 3) Public Transportation that is affordable and reliable.
